ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE'S RULING MODIFYING SCHEDULE

In response to The Utility Reform Network's (TURN's) request, which is supported by other parties who chose to be heard on the issue,¹ this ruling adjusts one aspect of the schedule contained in the "Assigned Commissioner's Ruling and Scoping Memo (Phase 2)" dated November 24, 2003.²

IT IS RULED that:

1. The due date for filing of parties' proposals on AMI, including lists of costs/benefits categorized as "short term," "long term," and "out of scope," and proposals to measure costs/benefits, and for addressing AC cycling as an interface with AMI elements is moved from December 22, 2003 to January 16, 2004.

² In setting forth the schedule for Phase 2 of this proceeding, the November 24 Ruling provides that the ALJ may revise the schedule, as necessary to facilitate the efficient management of the proceeding (Ruling Paragraph 2).

2. In all other respects, the schedule set forth in the November 24 ruling is unchanged. However, the Working Group 3 facilitator will develop a more detailed schedule of workshop meetings, consistent with the broad outlines of the schedule contained in the November 24 ruling, and will communicate that schedule to the parties at the appropriate time.

Dated December 9, 2003, at San Francisco, California.
